

 Walkers on a ridge with the Scenic Rim beyond

Border Tracks: Mt Lindesay to Richmond Gap

Walks that rarely feel a footfall

A three day, vehicle supported journey along the spine of the McPherson Range beside the historic Rabbit Board Fence, camping on private property where you are the only guests. 2026 dates coming soon.

DURATION	DISTANCE	GRADE	GROUP SIZE
3 days, 2 nights	39 km	Challenging	Maximum 9 walkers

Day by day

DAY 1

Mt Lindesay foothills to Campbell's Folly, about 11 km

The Old Highway Road is a dirt track through grassy paddocks to King George Gate and into New South Wales, with the Border Ranges to the south. Turn left along the Rabbit Board Fence and the roller coaster trail runs through many forest types with spectacular viewpoints. Skirt the precipitous peak of Glennies Chair to a palm fringed oasis for morning tea, climb back to the fence and roll on through eucalypt forest and magnificent rainforest above the Palen Creek catchments. Lunch in a lush Rabbit Board Reserve paddock, then a steep spur down to the support van and the short drive to Campbell's Folly, where Clyde and Kym Bignall welcome the group to their piece of paradise.

DAY 2

Back to the fence and on to Wild Mountains, about 12 km

The dawn chorus and a hot cuppa by the campfire set the tone. After a hearty breakfast from the hosts, return to the fence for the invigorating climb. Much of the day is rainforest between 650 and 782 metres, with spectacular outlooks and some challenging Big Dippers where the fence dives to a saddle and climbs straight back up. Panoramic views over the finger lime orchards, a look back along the ranges walked so far, then an access road to Wild Mountains camp, where Richard and Susan Zoomers give a tour before tents, the campfire, sundowners and dinner in the main hall.

DAY 3

Wild Mountains to Richmond Gap, about 16 km

Retrace the previous afternoon's steps to the fence, now beside Lever's Plateau in the Border Ranges and small sections of Chinghee National Park. Long Creek rises here and the route passes the cascades and ravines of Long Falls. Knolls and saddles keep coming but the height falls away all the way to the Lion's Road on the border. Views open east over Running Creek Road and the Brisbane to Sydney railway far below, and shortly before the end the walk crosses the railway tunnel beneath the mountain. Farewell the fence at Richmond Gap and board the van for Boonah.

Included

Walking eco guide with a story guide and tour support guide
All meals from lunch on day 1 to lunch on day 3
Sunset drinks and a cheese platter both evenings
Private campsites with hot showers
Vehicle support and return transport from Boonah

Not included

Travel to Boonah
Travel insurance
Personal camping gear

Camping information and a comprehensive packing list on booking

Fitness and who it suits

Many sharp ascents and descents with no stairs, which may not suit a person with knee or other physical issues or heart conditions. Trekking poles are recommended.

Grade: Challenging. Many sharp ascents and descents with no stairs. Trekking poles recommended.

This suits you if

- You want a long walk in high places
- You like a camp where the group are the only guests
- You're comfortable with steep ups and downs three days running

Probably not for you if

- You have knee heart or other physical issues on steep ground
- You need a formed track underfoot

What to bring

Carry

- ☐ Day pack with personal gear for the day
- ☐ Trekking poles, recommended

Pack

- ☐ Personal overnight gear, transported to each camp by vehicle

Meeting point and getting there

Meet: Boonah, with vehicle support to the foothills of Mt Lindesay

1 hour drive from Brisbane

Nearest airport: Brisbane

7 Church Street, Boonah QLD 4310

Questions

How heavy is my pack?

A day pack only. Personal overnight gear is transported to the bush campsites at Campbell's Folly and Wild Mountains.

What about special diets?

Special dietary requests are catered for with notice. Meals at Wild Mountains are all vegetarian.

What if the walk is full?

Guest numbers are strictly limited to nine. If the walk is already full you'll be placed on a waiting list.

How to book

Send a request to book from the Border Tracks: Mt Lindesay to Richmond Gap page and Teresa will confirm within 24 hours. Groups are maximum 9 walkers.

Contact

Horizon Guides · walks@horizonguides.com.au · 0417 760 966 · horizon-guides-lg9a.pages.dev